THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1911.

No wonder there are so many weddings in the month of June. The sweet girl graduates are so bewitching that the young men suddenly become powerless to resist longer.

A recess for Congress will mean a recess for the people. Every voter should therefore write his representative at once and earnestly encourage the recess idea that has just sprung up at Washington.

If Congress will just pass the Canadian Reciprocity bill and the Farmers' Free List bill, that would do for one lesson, and they might then be excused to run and play until the first Monday in December.

Every member of the new Chamber of Commerce should pin this in his hat: Henderson has already lost only two many good opportunities for its own upbuilding and growth, and it cannot afford to let another one slip by.

The modern "Sassiest Column," with which so many newspapers have to be afflicted, might have a better flavor, and would probably be devoured with more relish by the general public, if there was not so much "froth" and "fume" about it.

Col. R. M. Phillips, of the Greensboro Daily News, will have to be restrained, as he is taking entirely too much liberty in writing about some things. The following from his pen is the limit: "Peekaboo days at last are here—the most transparent of the year."

Now that the college graduates have come forth on the stage and in their graduating orations and essays solved all the great problems of life, it is next in order for them to go out into the world and tackle their first real problem—that of earning their own bread and butter.

Can it be possible at this late day that the people of South Carolina are just becoming aroused to a consciousness of the fact that they are among the transgressors? Any way the Charleston News and Courier is just now vociferously advocating the planting of fig trees all over the lowlands of that State.

Wonder how many fathers the rural free mail delivery system really has? A news item informs us that "former Congressman William B.
Baker, known as the father of the rural free delivery system, died at his home in Maryland a few days ago." Hon. Tom Watson, of Georgia, and Marion Butler, of carpet-bag fame, both claim that honorable distinction.

The Greensboro Daily News says the slogan of that city now is "Greensboro to Henderson." That is a good slogan not only for the people of Greensboro but for those of almost any other community in North Carolina to adopt. There are doubtless many people in Greensboro and other communities in this State and elsewhere who might come to our prosperous and growing city and locate with profit to themselves.

The farmers of Vance and adjoining counties feel a much livelier interest in the status of the tobacco crop than they are likely to show in the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the so-called "tobacco trust." The present rather discouraging outlook for the 1911 tobacco crop amounts to something with the farmer, while he fully understands that the decision of the Supreme Court in this noted case will amount to but little to him.

In these days if a man takes a dram, or chews tobacco, or smokes, or gambles, or swears, or does something else equally as bad, he is either snubbed straight out or regarded with more or less suspicion by the "more-boly-than-thou" element of society in his community. But on the other hand, if by mere preference or a desire to do right and be a good example to mankind, he engages in none of these things, all the rest of the world is apt to class him as a "goody-goody old hypocrite," and refuse to have very much to do with him. It now appears that one of the chief complaints in Washington against Senator Lorimer, who has of late been very much in the public eye, is that he is neither drinks, chews, smokes, dips nor swears, but when he is not busy with his senatorial duties, goes home and spends his time quietly with his family. These are very grave charges to present against any United States Senator in this day and time, and it is no wonder that the United States Senate, in view of them, is vigorously investigating Senator Lorimer. He is even a worse man than we had thought, and undoubtedly deserves to go down in ignominy and shame.

Messrs. Ashcraft Bros., the progressive and wide-awake proprietors and publishers of the Monroe Enquirer, last week issued a large special industrial edition of that paper, setting forth in striking manner the rapid and substantial growth and development of that flourishing little city during the past several years.
This publication reflects high credit not only upon the publishers but upon one of the very best and most rapidly growing little cities in the State. Monroe is a good town and deserves all the good things that might be said about it, and there are no better people in the world, outside of Henderson of course. Here are our most hearty congratulations to the Enquirer on the extremely good showing it has made for its town and community, and in this connection we wish to add that nothing in this special edition of the Enquirer has been the least overdone. It is all true to life, and many of the handsome cuts presented bring to the mind of this writer very pleasant recollections of Monroe and her good people. The only criticism we have to offer is that some of the cuts of leading citizens fail utterly to do their handsome subjects justice, but this is a fault common to most newspaper cuts, and is not the fault either of the publishers or the subjects.

Have you ever observed how little talent and standing it takes to be a first class "knocker." You will find that in about nine cases out of every ten the fellow who has accomplished little for himself and done less for the community in which he lives is the one who wants to "knock" everybody and everything. When you find that you are just bound to give vent to your pent up feelings by doing some "knocking," get you some sort of an implement and go to the field and knock clods.

The best way to keep your place of business free from loafers is to provide no chairs, benches, boxes or other reclining and loitering places for them, for it is a known fact that the professional loafer is not very fond of bearing up his own weight very long at a time on his pedal extremities.

Tobacco Trust Must Dissolve.

The government on Monday won a swearing victory over the so-called "tobacco trust" when the Supreme Court of the United States held the American Tobacco Company and its allied corporations to be operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

By directing that the combination be forbidden the privilege of inter-state commerce or be placed in the hands of a receiver unless it disintegrates in harmony with the law within six or, at the most, eight months, the court is regarded to have dealt with the tobacco corporations more drastically than with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, whose dissolution was ordered two weeks ago.

Both the first and second sections of the Sherman anti-trust law have been violated by the so-called tobacco trust according to the court. Not only has it, in the eyes of the court, restrained wrongfully and unlawfully interstate commerce, but it has attempted to monopolize the tobacco business to the injury of the public and of its competitors.

While the decree was regarded as unusually severe, at the same time there was a touch of leniency in not making the combination an outlaw "now." The various elements of the combination are to be given an opportunity, under the supervision of the United States circuit court for the Southern district of New York, of re-creating so that there may be brought about "a new condition which shall be honestly in harmony with and not repugnant to the law."

The opinion of the court was announced by Chief Justice White, who also delivered the opinion of the court in the Standard Oil case. The entire court agreed that the tobacco combination violated the Sherman anti-trust law.

Bearpound Items.

Mr. Ollie Finch is at home for his vacation.
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coghill spent Sunday with Mrs. E. E. Pardue.
Mrs. Ed Stone is improving after having been sick for several weeks.
Miss Eunice Coghill has been ill for the past week, but is now improving.
Miss Florie Kittrell has returned after having spent a month in New York City.
Mrs. Cassie Gill spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. W. H.
Finch.
Miss Minnie Pardue spent several days of the past week with her sister, Mrs. J.
W. Coghill.
Prof. L. B. Edwards has returned from his work in Florida, and is spending his vacation at home.
Miss Gussie Finch has returned home from Blackstone, Va., where she has been attending school.
We are indeed glad to have the Misses Edwards to spend their vacation at their home on Maple street.

A splendid congregation assembled at Union Chapel last week to attend the exercises given by the Sunday school children. We found that a very interesting program had been prepared. The most impressive number on the program was a duet, "God Will Take Care of You," sung by Miss Lillian and Lillian Pardue.

Watson-Harris.

Elegantly engraved invitation cards, reading as follows, have been issued:
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rogers Harris invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter, Roselee,
to
Dr. Samuel Robert Watson, on Wednesday morning, the seventh of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, at half after eleven o'clock, Methodist Protestant church,
Henderson, North Carolina.

Miss Harris is an extremely popular young lady and has a host of friends in Henderson and elsewhere.

State News.

The pure food division of the State department of agriculture has had seized a lot of flour at Asheville because it is highly bleached, in violation of the State pure food law. The flour was shipped into the State by the Cumberland Mills, of Nashville, Tenn., and was found in the stock of H. J. Olive, of Asheville. The fine for this is $200.

A horrible tragedy occurred Sunday night about fifteen miles from Oxford, in the neighborhood of Bul-locks. Mr. A. S. Campbell, a man about 45 years old, in his attempt to cut his wife's throat, after having beaten her into insensibility, drew his knife and was in the act of making the fatal stroke when, with his knife drawn, he was shot by his little son, twelve years old, and fell dead with the knife by his side. An investigation of the case rendered a verdict of justifiable homicide.

The fifteenth annual convention of the North Carolina Bankers' Association will convene at Lake Kan-naga, near Hendersonville, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 21, 22 and 23. Arrangements are being made to give the bankers one of the greatest times of their lives at this noted mountain resort. A number of speakers of national reputation will be present at this meeting to address the convention on various subjects of interest to financiers.
Mr. W. A. Hunt, cashier of the Citizens' Bank, of this city, is secretary of this association.

Eighty-eight gray-haired Confederate veterans who, at the outbreak of the Civil war, were students in the University of North Carolina and left their books to take up arms in the conflict between the States, received degrees of Bachelors of Arts from that institution Tuesday. The bestowal of the long deferred graduation honors was in accordance with a special act of the North Carolina Legislature. Many of the old soldiers had not met from the time they left the University to go to war until they were when they occupied seats of honor at the alumni banquet.

The State Medical Society will convene at Charlotte, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 20, 21 and 22, and the Charlotte doctors are making extensive preparation for the entertainment of the members of the Society while in the city. The address of welcome on behalf of the Mecklenburg County Medical Society will be delivered by Dr. J. P. Munroe, president of the North Carolina Medical College, while the address of welcome on behalf of the city will be made by Col. W. C. Maxwell. Rev.
Dr. G. T. Rowe, pastor of Tryon St.
Methodist church, will make the invocation and Dr. E. G. Moore, of Elm City, will respond to addresses of welcome on behalf of the State Society. Then will follow the regular routine.

Mrs. Reuben Combs, of Statesville, came to her death in a mysterious way Friday. She had been feeling as well as usual the night before and the next morning when her husband attempted to wake her he found that she was not in bed. He then got up and hunted through the house, and not finding her, went out into the yard. Finding to find there, he went to the cowpen, where he found her lying dead. Her hands were cold, but her body was still warm.
He picked her up and tried to carry her to the house, but being unable to do so, he laid her down and went for help. When he had gotten help they carried the body to the house. An inquest was held and the jury, after hearing the evidence, rendered a verdict that the deceased had come to her death from natural causes.

Church News of the Week.

Rev. C. E. Newman held two services at the Methodist church Sunday.
Both of the sermons at the Baptist church last Sunday were preached by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Morgan. Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach the sermon on the "Baptist church history will be completed." The subject will be: "The Baptist after the Reformation Period, Persecution, Struggle for Liberty." The beginning of the Baptist church in pulpit the 3rd Sunday in June while the pastor is attending the World Alliance at Philadelphia.

The pastor, Rev. I. W. Hughes, held the three services at Holy Innocent's church Sunday, preaching at the night service one of the finest sermons since his coming to Henderson. Next Sunday, Whit Sunday or the birthday of the church, there will be special services at 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. The morning service will culminate with the celebration of the Holy Communion.

Next Sunday morning there will be a celebration of the Lord's Supper at the Methodist church at 11 o'clock. There were the two regular services Sunday, Rev. W. R. Royall receiving 5 persons into the communion of the church at the morning hour, and Mr. Richard Jones singing the anthem.
Rev. J. A. McClure preached the two sermons at the Presbyterian church Sunday. The sermon Sunday morning was from the text "Be not one another's burden" and was a fine exposition of the value of human sympathy.

The pastor, Rev. R. M. Andrews, preached at the regular services of the Protestant church Sunday. At night the pulpit was filled by the president of the North Carolina Conference, Rev. W.
E. Swain. Sunday morning the Holy Department was inaugurated in the Sunday school in order that those who are detained at home may prepare and get the benefit of the lesson for the day.
Cradle Roll was also arranged that all children from the time they receive their names may be members of Sunday school. At the year's end, all children are expected, under this system, to attend Sunday school. Next Sunday will be the regular communion Sunday.

Townsville Topics.

Mrs. Sallie Royster served quite an elaborate dinner Saturday. To the Sewing Society of the Presbyterian church, which met at her home.
The pastor, Rev. Carr Moore, preached an impressive sermon Sunday at Nut Bush church from the text "Give an account of thy stewardship." Messrs. S. R. Adams and E. G. Knott went to Henderson Tuesday morning on business.
Mr. W. B. Harris spent Tuesday morning in Henderson advertising the game of baseball between the local team and the Cherokee Indians.
Capt. J. M. B. Hunt went to Chapel Hill Saturday to attend his class reunion and receive the diploma awarded to the class of 1891, which left college to join the Confederate army.
Mr. S. L. Graham, Jr., of Kenbridge, Va., is spending a week with his parents.
Misses Sallie and Evelyn Royster, Sude Alston, and Mr. John Royster spent Saturday in Henderson shopping.

Bold Robbery Saturday Night.

Mrs. J. W. Gill, who lives on Hamilton street, was attacked by a negro and robbed of her purse last Saturday night about ten o'clock, as she was passing along that street in company with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Gill, while on their way home from town. The two ladies had just turned from Garnett into Hamilton street and had gone but a short distance down the latter when the negro slipped stealthily upon them, before they had even a suspicion of his presence, and Mrs. Gill felt someone touching her waist as if trying to get her watch away from her. She hastily clashed her watch with both hands and looking around quickly, saw a negro with an army cap on crouching close behind her. He then suddenly seized her wrist, tearing it off her wrist, and fired a pistol, probably to intimidate the two ladies. They both at once began screaming and calling for help, being thoroughly frightened by the incident and the firing of the pistol, while the negro fled precipitately across Garnett street and the railroad.

Mr. Norman Gill and Mrs. R. F. Lorian, who had gone down town with the two ladies who were attacked, were walking about a hundred yards ahead when they were attracted by the cries of Mrs. Gill and the report of the pistol, and went immediately to the rescue. Mr. Norman Gill at once gave chase to the negro, following him as far as the old fair grounds, but failed to capture him. A number of people hearing the cries of distress following the report of the pistol shot, were soon on the scene, and others joined in the fruitless chase of the fleeing negro. Word soon got out that a woman had been murdered by a negro, and excitement ran high for a little while.

Mrs. Gill and the other three persons mentioned had gone down town earlier in the night to do some shopping. After making several purchases at Mr. J. W.
Beck's store and perhaps elsewhere, they started back home, Mr. Norman Gill and Mrs. Lorian walking considerably in front of the two ladies, who noticed some one following them up Garnett street, but supposed it to be the son of their washerwoman and were not alarmed until he made the attack as above.

The wrist-bag stolen contained two newspaper clippings, one of them being an account of the death of Mrs. Gill's sister, Mr. C. A. Lorian, of Baltimore, and the other an account of her marriage; also a few postage stamps and some small change, a less amount than a dollar in all. The wrist-bag, a rather costly one, was found a day or two later by a colored boy who sold it to a lady for a quarter. It was later returned to Mrs. Gill, but the contents had been extracted and retained by the robber.

It is stated that the identity of the bold robber has since been pretty well established, but so far his capture has not been effected.

Harris--Manning.

Beautifully engraved invitation
received in Henderson and elsewhere:
"Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Rives Manning invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter, Marie Mildred,
to Mr. Benjamin Franklin Harris, on the evening of Wednesday, the fourteenth of June,
at nine o'clock Presbyterian church,

Much local interest centers in this approaching marriage, as the copulating parties are prominent and extremely popular young people of the community.

Miss Manning is a most charming and highly cultured young lady, who has a host of friends not only in this city but throughout this entire section.

Mr. Harris is a young gentleman of sterling character and worth and stands high in this community.

Vass-Sharp.

Beautiful invitation cards reading as follows have been issued:
Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Sharp request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Frances Ann,
to Reverend Lachland Cunningham Vass, on the evening of Sunday, the fourteenth of June, at half after seven o'clock, Nut Bush Presbyterian church, Townsville, near Mansion, North Carolina.

Miss Sharp has a great many friends in this county. Her father, Mr. J. H. Sharp, was formerly treasurer of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad. Mr. and Mrs. Vass will make their future home in Memphis, Tenn.
